VACAVILLE ORGANIZATIONS SEEKING LOCAL VOLUNTEERS

Do you love Vacaville and want to get more involved in fun local events? Then we want to hear from you!

Vacaville, CA, October 9, 2015 – Visit Vacaville, the Downtown Vacaville Business Improvement District, the Jimmy Doolittle Center, and other local organizations are teaming up in search of volunteers who love their community and want to get more involved in various events around Vacaville. Becoming a volunteer is a great way to get to know others in the community, network with local business owners and community leaders, and share your love of Vacaville!

“Volunteers will have the opportunity to participate in a variety of fun events,” says Visit Vacaville President Melyssa Laughlin. “It’s a fantastic way to get involved in the community and meet new people while supporting local businesses and non-profits.”

Past volunteers have enjoyed donating their time at events such as the Solano County Fair, the Italian Festival, and Creekwalk Concerts; in addition to fundraisers for local non-profits, educational events for families at Pena Adobe, and more. From pouring wine to educating visitors, event set-up, and booth manning, there’s an opportunity for every interest (and it really is fun to get involved, we promise)!

Think you might like to become a volunteer? All you have to do to get started is email Melyssa Laughlin at melyssa@visitvacaville.com with your name and contact information.
